> Experience available in English and German.

Optional:

Possibility to visit the Serra da Enciña da Lastra Natural Park Interpretation Centre and take part in various guided tours. Transportation can be arranged through a local operator at an additional cost (available only for groups of at least 6 people).

Activity description:

Participants will have the option to explore the rich flora and fauna of the Serra da Enciña da Lastra Natural Park at the Biobra Interpretation Centre, depending on availability. Other guided routes for groups will also be suggested.

The journey continues with a visit to the O Marquesado, starting in the extraction room, where we will learn about the honey extraction and packaging process.

Eco-packaging Workshop

In this sustainable eco-experience, visitors will learn how to create eco-friendly packaging to cover food and reduce plastic use. How is this possible? By using our own beeswax.

We will make reusable wraps impregnated with beeswax for food storage—a real sustainable alternative to plastic. Participants will take home their eco-friendly wraps in different sizes, for personal use or as an original gift—a true contribution to the ecosystem.

We will conclude our eco-experience with a tasting of honey, pollen, and local products.

Eco-friendly Practices

> Environmental awareness about the Natural Park, including information on biodiversity and pollinators.
> Use of organic cotton and our own beeswax for the workshop.
> Explanation of the positive impact of beekeeping on biodiversity.
> Waste minimization with biodegradable packaging and promotion of recycling.
> Purchase of km-0 products for the tasting.
